INTEREST IS $1,100

Monday night effected a final sellement of the long pending controversy with J. P. Cullen & Sou, contractors, for non-completion of the now high school building in accordance with the date specifical in the contract. As a result, prospects of a long drawn out fight in the couris are eliminated, and the matter which has been the cause of strife for so many months becomes a closed incident.

City officials feel that the settlement is most advantageous to the city and are gind that the affair has been disposed of peaceably. Each side made some concessions, the city agreeing to pay $1,100 interest on the amount held up so long in dispute and not pushing its claim for the full penalty of some $15,000. At thest opposed to paying any penulty, Mr. Culien finally agreed to deduct $5,000 from his bill.

FUSION OR CHAOS Many Important Tasks Need

Doing; Continued War Would Block Work. By DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright 1922, by Janesville Daily Gazette,

Washington-Coalition government -a new line-up of conservatives from the republican and democratic parthe republican and democratic par-tics as against the radical groups—is the only possible way out of the chaos in which congress finds itself today. The legislative program will either be a fizzle due to deadlocks and insure of what will be given

be sure of what will be given priority.

Ten Important items
At present writing the following would seem to be the principal items on the program:

First—The usual appropriation bills. These will provide many controversies especially since an effort will be made to cut oven further the estimates of exponditures by the executive departments.

Second—Tax revision. There is unanimity on the proposal to reduce the taxes of persons of incomes below $10,000. This cannot be done, however, without providing revenue to take the place of the amounts lost by reducing smaller incomes. To obtain the new revenue the treasury declares surtaxes should be cut. The radicals think surtaxes should be retained at the present scale and other levies made besides, such as excess profits taxes. There is a disposition to increase the rate on inheritance taxes.

Hundreds of these pigeons, each carrying a moisture-proof drug container beneath the body are liberated from the Mexican headquarters, of a smuggling gang at certain specified times, according to narcotic agents. A few hours later they are being "checked up" at their owners' homes on the American side of the line, it is said. The system was revealed, authorities announced, when one of the border flying birds was wounded by a hunter and picked up by a narcotic agent, who happened to be watching for a smuggler's plane.

Would Require "Holding" Method of Pasteurization by Next July. 1.

Members of the city council are expected to take final action at their next regular meeting, Dec. 17, on an ordinance to require the "holding" method for milk pasteurization as against the present "flash" system used by two firms, and to give to the city manager an the powers and duties formerly invested in the board of health. The ordinance, introduced at Monday night's council meeting, by the woman member of the council, Mrs. Emma H. Manning, was given its first two readings and laid over two weeks for final action. In its present form, the ordinance calls for the "holding" method of pasteurization to become effective July 1, 1924, giving dairies not already equipped time to install new machinery.

May Deterate Inspection.

"The ordinance will accomplish good results but won't put anyone cut of business and that is what wo were trying to get away from," declared Mrs. Manning.

It was explained that the only milk which may be legally distributed will be that which is pasteurized under the new system or that from tuberculin tasted cows. The "holding" method calls for heating the milk to a temporature of 145 degrees for 39 minutes. The "flash" system of heating it to 161 degrees for three minutes would be abolished. The city manager would be abolished. The city manager would be abolished. ed. The city manager would be given authority to delegate the duties of enforcement and inspection

Manager's Report Received.
The November report of City Manager Tranier on the financial condition of the city was received and was ordered published in full along with the regular council proceedings. The report showed a cash balance on Dec. 1 of $122,772, of which $65,179 was in the general fund, Disbursements during November were listed as being $58,098, and receipts, $25,8727.

Listing as liabilities the $5,000 due on Riverside park in 1921, $34,000 due of Riverside park in 1921, $34,000 due over a five-year neriod for additional land for the high school property and one other account of $5,500 as of the date of $7,500, the manager explained that the surplus had been cut to $37,901. Mr. Tranier said that after Jan. 1 the report would be submitted in a new form, showing, the amounts due said contractor, J. P. Pay Them What They Earn. "Three hundred thousand persons are employed in the postal service of the United States. "All are citizens of the United States and most are heads of families or the support of families. Thus a million and a half of the American people. or one and one-half per cent of the total population, depend directly or indirectly for means of support on the payroll of the United States Post Office.

"The important obligation and responsibility of the postal employe, who is always under oath and frequently bonded, assists in the development of integrity and a sound moral viewpoint. A man who stands this test of character for a period of 10 years without yielding to temptation or deviating from his official duties is an honest man and a good citizen."

These sentences from a book by Daniel C. Roper, first assistant postmuster general in the first Wilson administration, are a mild statement of the case for higher pay for the postal employes.

There is no other department of our government where efficiency counts for as much as it does in the postal service. Dolay, inaccuracy, carelessness in the postal service can mean the loss of millions of dollars a day to business. Yet by a niggardly salary scale we are making extremely difficult the recruiting of capable postal employes. and driving to disgust and despair and a lower standard of living, people whose devotion to the public service is beyond all praise.

The postal employe links the people together as no one else can do. He connects town with town, country with city. There is no corner of the country, however remote, that does not feel day after day the benefit of his services. Should he fail in his duty, the country would feet it worse than an earthquake shock. Yet he is paid far less than men of equal education and responsibility are paid by private concerns.

To be sure, there is a huge annual deficit in the postoffice department. But this has nothing to do with the pay of postal employes. If the postal rates were doubled the deficit might be wiped out. But the people have never held that the navy should be paid for by our sea-coast communities, or that only those who send mail should bear the entire expense of the post office. The receiving end is just as important as the sending. and the service is not so much individual as it is communal. Efficiency is thus not a local, but a national question; and the entire nation, as receivers of service as well as originators of it. should foot the bill.

There is no question that the postal employes are underpaid, and that, in fairness to the nation as well as to the postal workers, salaries must be raised. The service has been patient too long. It is fully justified in its request for higher pay.

The bull moose as a political insignia appears to have gone into the anthropological museum.

The Old Fogey at 24.

Among the other gloom spreaders of the present moment when so many persons find they may achieve publicity by preaching general pessimism, is Dr. John Adams, of the University of hopes and aspirations of the human race. "The twenty-fourth hirthday." he declares. "is the educational deadline in the life of the average man or woman of today.", After this fatal milestone is reached it is exceedingly difficult to add any new acquisitions to our intellectual equipment. True, Plate learned Greek at eighty, but he lived a long time ago. The professor firmly believes that the majority of us are condemned to journey through life with whatever learning we have succeeded in cornering in the carly twenties, which is hard on most of us, to say the least. The savant even goes further, declaring, "Oldfogcylsin has begun for a man and old-maldism for a woman of twenty-four. The young person who reaches this age unequipped is seldom able to make good the deficiency." Despite the assertions of biologists that metabolism goes on for quite a period beyond this fatal age, Dr. Adams would have us believe that ossification and mental decay begin to manifest themselves shortly after a birthday cake with twenty-four candles appears

The learned doctor seems to be somewhat of an alarmist. The Los Angeles Times thinks that if no one were capable of acquiring learning affor twenty-four, save in exceptional cases, there would be an even larger crop of stupid people than the world boasts of at present. In an ago when overyone is frantically clutching onto bouth and a skilled surgeon can take a few plaits and tucks in an aged face and make the owner look like a flapper of sixteen it should be possible for the psychologists to joit the atrophied intellect of twenty-five into a state of receptivity to new ideas Most people will firmly and impolitely decline to be designated as old fogeys at twenty-five, especially in a period when public speakers and writers are went to refer to a man of sixty as middle-aged.

The Janesville Gazette A School For Auto Drivers

Washington .-- Automobile drivers in Washington are going to school this fall to learn how to handle their cars more safely and more efficiently. Once a week free classes are held by the local Safety Council. Drivers from all walks of life park limousines, touring cars, flivvers and trucks around the school and come in to hear expert mechanics and traffic engineers talk on

Almost everybody in the National Capital pursuce some pet study at night at a university or studio. So the idea of conducting classes in safe driving has proved a great success here. The first course, tried out for 12 weeks last spring, attracted about 600 students. At the close of the term diplomas were awarded to 155 pupils in

The Washington Safety Council has watched court records on traffic violations carefully, and it finds that not one member of the spring gradunting classes has been before a judge on a traffic charge this year. Moreover, the manager of a government department garage reports that maintenance charges on cars run by graduates of the safe-driving school are appreciably lower than charges on other machines. Results such as these. obtained in Washington and several other cities. indicate that a school is both a practical and profitable experiment. Special efforts to make the streets safer are steadily becoming more necessary. Improvements in automobiles render the up-to-date car more easily and more quickly controlled. Driving reg Wattons are being made more rigorous in many localities. Yet, as the number of automobiles increases, the number of traffic accidents each year is also increasing. Bocause of the toll of human lives which it takes each year, the automobile has been called by traffic experts "the most deadly peace-time machine." Much of the deadliness of the automobile however, is traced directly to causes that can be remedied. If pedestrians and motorists strictly followed safety first principles, dangers would be minimized. This is shown by statistics in cities observing safety week. In New York, a regular weekly toll of 70 accidents of all sorts was cut to 24 accidents during safety week. Pittsburgh cut its weekly accident rate from 22 cases to 0 in safety week, and Baltimore reduced its score from 9 accidents to 2.

The safety councils of the cities are therefore trying to educate people to a belief in making the streets safe for themselves and others. New Fork is the first large city to makes its safety council a branch of the nunicipal police department, but other communities are making safely a live issue.

In one state the public school teachers are required to devote at least 5 minutes a month to the subject of safety. The city of Washington started the plan of using large posters on street cars, taxicabs, signboards, and traffic stations to advertise safety all the year round. Every month a new message in staring red letters is presented to the public. "The jay walker is taking a short cut to the hospital," read one warning. And another month the city learned that "The reckless delver is a criminat."

The safe-driving school is one of the most promising developments in the safety campaign. The school does not try to teach amateurs how to operate a machine. Nor does it attempt to make an all-round mechanic of the driver, who knows nothing about the mysteries concealed under hood of his ear. In fact, the Safety Council believes that a little knowledge, recklessly applied, is a dangerous thing. One of the points impressed upon the students is that while certain routine repairs can be made by the average driver, other jobs about a motor can be handled safely only by an expert repair man. The safe driver-leaving out the driver who happens to be an expert mechanic-is the one who knows enough about his machine to recognize various danger signals, and who knows what should be done about them. each session of the school four speakers make short talks, and afterwards the students are given printed leaflets covering the points explained in class. Each night lessons are given both in efficient driving and in sufe driving. Thus in one evening the students may hear experts explain some practical facts about the ignition system and the brakes of an automobile, while anspeaker takes up the subject of railroad hazards.

It might seem almoss unnecessary to urge a present day audience always to look up and down a railroad track before crossing. But a railroad company that reported observations of 3.589 automobile drivers at crossings found that 2 per cent looked both ways before crossing, 17 per cent looked in only one direction, and 81 per cent locked neither way. Another railroad company reports that in one year more than 500 of the crossing gaies which are lowered to prevent collision with approaching trains were run into and London, who hangs a little more crepe on the broken by automobiles. More than 1.000 persons are killed and 4,000 injured in automobile accidents at railroad crossings every year, and nearly half of these accidents are the result of automo biles trying to cross the track in front of a train. The important point impressed on the automobile driver is that a locomotive never gives the right of way to a motorist who happens to be in a hurry. A train traveling 40 miles an hour advances 59 feet a second, and can not be stopped in less than about a quarter of a mile,...

The safety lesson may also deal with street hazards, or with precautions against accidents in the garage. As an example of the sort of information given, consider this practical advice or 'If you have to crank your car, be careful not to break your arm. Always pull the crank up, not down, and don't spin it unless absolutely necessury. When grasping crank, place thumb on same side of handle with the fingers; then if there is a klek-back, handle will slip from hand, Keep the spark retarded until the engine has started.'

The school devotes another lesson to teaching students that the good will of a traffic officer is more desirable than his ill will. The traffic policeman, the students are told, is not the deadly enemy of the motorist. He has a difficult post and he is responsible for accidents which happen at his station. He and the motorist need each other's cooperation.

The safe-driving course teaches practical facts in which any motorist is interested. But its more important lesson is to impress on the driver the necessity of adapting himself to new developments in the traffic situation. Most of the accidents of today would have been impossible when the middle aged business man was a boy. Dan-zerous streets as we know the a are one of the most recent phases of our civilization, and it is not attitude toward street conditions. More often than not, the driver who comes to a safe driving school brings with him a stern and suporior sense of justice and his rights. But when he graduates he knows the lesson of the modern epitaph;

Here lies the body of Jonathan Gay,
Who died maintaining his right of way. But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong." He was right, dead right, as he sped along, overseas. How much hidden misery, concealed by a smile, lurks in war-shattered bodies, most of us who are here by sufferance do not ruess until here and there, the reaper appears. Is not such a death growned with all the glory of that which occurred where the popples wave, and amid the tumult and the shouting?

Hi Johnson's speech reads as though he had not

THE SPRAYING SEASON OPENS

A father—a father, mind you—tolls that there is anything fifthy, offenme about visiting the schoolroom where his young son is incarcerated—that is not my word, but the father's—and there he found the spruy flyth in all directions and the teather's—and there he found the spruy flyth work the untutored youngsters were perpetrating. This anxious father—there is, I estimate, about one anxious father to every 3,000 anxious mothers, in our population—this father wished something could be done to protect the decent or cleanly or educated class from the dirty, ignorant, vicious sides in the schoolroom.

If this father would ure a campaign to protect the 'techers and children against drafts, now, or with a father would ure a campaign to protect the cheen in a wild decamer, a reference in the contents of the cachers the uncleanliness the bad manners and the perils of open face sneeding and coughing.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you over tried.

You've probably heard of this well-You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex: then add plain grunulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honcy, or cern syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat lickle, hoarseness, croup, brouchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pines is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or memor refunded.

ITIR Bank extends a special invitation to every man, woman and child in our city and community, to come in and join our new Christmas Club. THE RESIDENCE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY O

This is the most popular plan ever devised for having money next Christmas, and enables those of small means, those in moderate circumstances, and also business men, to lay aside money by systematic deposits each week.

You can start with 1c, 2c, 5c, 10c, and increase your deposit the same amount each week, or you can start with 25c. 50c, $1.00, $2.00, $5.00, $10.00, $20.00 or more, and put in the same amount each week.

The plan of the Club is simple: you merely bring in your first deposit and we give you a Christmas Club pass book, showing the Club you have joined and amount deposited.

Payments are due weekly or in advance.

The following table explains the different Clubs:

WHEN THE ROLL of the Midwest professional baseball league is called, the name of "Bill" Lathrop of Janesville means considerable. "Rusty" went to the Simmons Bed company team of Kenosha on Sept. 6 last. While of course it was the steady going of the Bedmakers all through the season that put them on top when the race was over, it was the twirling of "Big Bill" that helped Keno to a large extent during the crucial period just before the year closed. Bill won four and lost two games for Kenosha in that sertions series. That gave him a pitching percentage of .637 and ranked him in a tie for third place of all the league hurlers for the season. He pitched 53½ innings during which in many mere marked at bat. He allowed 43 hits and 15 runs were chalked up, according to the official records just released.

LATHROP played in 12

I. A THROP played in 12 games for Simmons, in some of which he was seen at other positions than on the mound. He crossed the platter four times with runs and made seven hits for an average of .226. Of his hits, three were two haggers and one was a triple. This is a good showing for the old guard and tells why some of his Janesville friends were so proud of him that they presented him with a sift toward the close of the season. But it is not only his playing, but his good disposition that wins the crowd over to Lathrop. That's why they call him "Sunny BIL!"

BILL started his league baseball ast season up in the Wisconsin State loop. In that circuit, he won 16 and lost seven games. He went from Oshkosh to Appleton on June 9. When he joined the latter club, it was in sixth place. On Aug. 12, two months later, Appleton was on top of the organization, although it slid back into second when Bill accepted a good offer and went with the Kensha outfit. A great deal of the secret behind Lathrop's work is that se starts training early in the season. He never lefs up, even though he may not be with his team, but gets gut and has a workout every day. but and has a workout every day that is the whole cause for his being the to keep up the pace and it is a example for all aspirants to a sent i

BRINGING UP FATHER

NEIGHBORS FORMED 1ST TOURNEY TEAM HERE

Nine years ago Janesville entered its first bowling team in a state tour-

A single team, organized and cap-tained by Jess Neighbors, departed without celemony for Madison to mingle with Wisconsin sharpshooters of the tenpin game. .

Next January, in Janesville, close to 6,000 pin-taights of the state will meet to compete in the Wisconsin state championship tournament.

In this great assemblage of bowers will be one who will be proud of the progress of the sport in Janes-eille, a bowler who resided in Janesville when the game knew no fol-lowing, providing pleasure for but a handful of citizens.

a handful of citizens.

That bowler is the old captain, less Neighbors, one of Milwaukee's foremost rollers today, placed second on the Fed Top Oil team in the Arcade Home league.

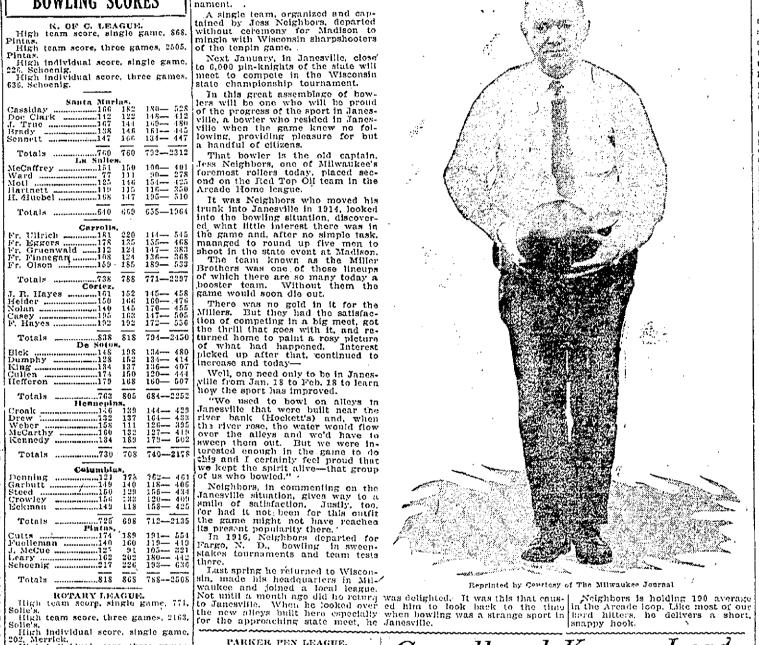

It was Neighbors who moved his trunk into Janesville in 1914, looked into the bowling situation, discovered what little interest there was in the game and, after no simple task, managed to round up five men to shoot in the state event at Madison.

The team known as the Miller The team known as the Miller Brothers was one of those lineups of which there are so many today a booster team. Without them the game would soon die out.

There was no gold in it for the Millers. But they had the satisfaction of competing in a big meet, got the thrill that goes with it, and returned home to paint a rosy picture of what had happened. Interest picked up after that, continued to increase and today nerease and today-

Well, one need only to be in Janes-dile from Jan. 18 to Feb. 18 to learn low the sport has improved.

Badgers Practice With Freshmen; Prospects Poor team will be seen in action for the second time this season Tuesday afternoon when it tangles with the freshman squad. The team, minus three of its outstanding members of last year, has prospects of developing into a squad that will place the Badgers well up in the conference ace, in the opinion of observers.

race, in the opinion of observers.

Spooner, Elsom Pranishing,
The Budgers will be lead this year by Captain Gibson, who is going into lids third season with the quinter (Gibson plays at the center position and is recognized as one of the best in the conference. Dwight Spooner, La Verne, Ia., forward, who played in several contests last season, will hold down one of the forward positions while Kenneth Elsom and Varney are contenders for the other.
Elsom was seen in action last year and his showing so far this season is declared to be highly favorable.
Varney comes from last year's fresh-Varney comes from last year's fresh-man squad and should develop into man squad and should develop into a valuable second man, it is believed.

The guard positions will be the hardest for Coach Meanwell to fill. It is said, Last year the team had at these positions Rollie Williams and Gus Tebell, ranked as two of the best guards of the season. Both the best guards of the season. Both were graduated, however, and applications for their positions include Diebold, Barwig, Christoph and Scogland. The first two substituted at times last season and probably will have the edge over the latter two. Watkman is a candidate for the center position but may be shifted to guard if he shows form.

Meanwell is Silent.

Coach Waiter E. Meanwell, who has established an excellent record as coach of the basket rume, is not overly optimistic about the outcome of the season. He has three big holes to fill, caused by the loss of last year's regulars, and has expressed the belief that the Jeam will lave difficulty in finishing around first place in the conference.
